This means that, until you have resided and been physically present in your home country for at least two years following your departure from the United States, you and your dependents are ineligible to apply for status in the United States as (1) permanent residents, (2) temporary workers/trainees (visa status H), or (3) intracompany transferees (visa status L).

Statement of Proposed Activity

Name _____

Project Title _____

Applicants should organize their proposals to address the following points either for research or for lecturing.

RESEARCH

- Background: When possible, place the project in academic or professional context by referring to the major work by others on a topic. In some cases this can be aided by use of a select bibliography.
- Objectives: Define clearly the aims of the project.
- Methodology: Describe the project and explain the approach and methods you will follow.
- Significance: Explain the significance of the project for the field, your own professional development, and home country.
- Evaluation and dissemination: Describe plans for assessment and dissemination of results both in your home country and elsewhere.

Other:

- Indicate why residence in the United States is necessary for accomplishment of the project.
- Explain how your project can be completed within the time period requested. —Describe your competence in English.
- Because applications are usually reviewed by multidisciplinary panels, describe your project to the extent possible in terms accessible to scholars not in your field.

LECTURING

Describe the range of courses you teach at home and how they will be relevant to your proposed teaching in the United States. If available, please attach course syllabi. * Explain what you propose to teach in the United States.

Describe your competence in English.
